

Jim Senior, world-class technology communicator, is chief corporate speech writer to CEOs. As trusted advisor, he develops key executive messages and promotes programs for client partnerships, employees and media. Jim's award-winning writing, narration and multimedia productions extend his range. He collaborates with the University of Pennsylvania's Executive Master's in Technology Management program that nurtures alignment of technology and business strategy for profitable growth.