Lawrence V. Ercolino CISA

Lawrence Ercolino is a skilled program manager who, over the past twenty years, has specialized in implementing new solutions and technologies to achieve lower costs of operations and improved business processes. His ability to build effective teams has enabled him to successfully guide client organizations and the subject matter experts and decision makers to make adaptations necessary to ensure long term sustainability. Other competencies include automating core processes, process efficiency, and project management. Most recently, Mr. Ercolino has implemented the SAP Governance, Risk Management, and Compliance products at Unisys Corporation where he led the effort to enhance and automate key controls in the company's financial reporting process.